

For Immediate Release
mkurz@kgcommunications.com

Contact:
Marian Kurz
k/g communications, ltd.
847-676-5570

Increase Your Home's Value With Attractive Landscaping
Free Seminar Hosted by Garden Concepts, Inc.

Glenview, IL -- According to Smart Money magazine, a well landscaped home can add "15% to your home's value." Homeowners who want to know just where to start on a value-added program for their home, are invited to attend a series of free seminars presented by Tim Thoelecke, owner of Garden Concepts, Glenview.

Thoelecke, whose company celebrates its 15th year of operation this April, and a frequent contributor to national garden publications, will present an illustrated discussion of how to get the most value and enjoyment from your yard. The talk will include case studies with many displays of 'before and after' situations, how to maximize curb appeal and exciting new techniques to transform a lawn into a landscape.

Presentations will be held at the following locations.

Tuesday, March 9, 7 p.m.

The Glen Club, 290 West Lake Ave., Glenview

Saturday, March 13 10 a.m.

Gorton Community Center, 100 E. Illinois, Lake Forest.

Thursday, March 18 7 p.m.

Winnetka Community House, 620 Lincoln, Winnetka

Space is limited so call 847-657-7900 or email seminar@gardenconceptsinc.com to reserve a space and for more complete details. Visit the Garden Concepts website www.gardenconceptsinc.com for driving directions.

Tim Thoelecke, owner of Garden Concepts, spoke recently to the members of the Late Bloomers Garden Club on "Garden Makeovers". The group of women, hailing from GLENVIEW and Northbrook, were interested in knowing how to make changes in their gardens to reflect changing lifestyles and maturing plant stock. Thoelecke also previewed a copy of This Old House Complete Landscaping, published by Sunset Books. Thoelecke was a contributor to this new book which has been released nationally.

Pictured left to right: Patty Pontarelli, president of the club and Tim Thoelecke.